Debbie,
This would be a nice place for you
& John to park

Mark

Debbie,
Best of luck in all your future years. Remember all the great times we've had.
Be good (it may be hard, but try)
and take care.
A.T.F.A.
Debbie

Debbie,
It seems like every time your with John I always mess up everything. You know, like playing football on the ice, and sitting beside you on the bus.
I hope the future turns out better.

A.G.T.T.T.A.

Debbie,
To a very nice girl who is always doing some she shouldn't.
Best of luck in the future years

Dedication

The boys knew him first. What a sense of humor this guy has. The girls soon came in contact with him. They had to borrow keys for Mrs. Clendaniels. He sure is friendly.

Then came drivers' ed. — all those girls who had never touched a steering wheel before — he was patient and kind. "All right, now. No sweat. Steer to the left. Careful, brake it, brake it, that's okay, easy." — all those crazy neck exercises —

Dedicated, that's what he is, but they always say that in a yearbook dedication. — always chewing his hillbilly cole slaw — all those soccer championships — no one else to thank — He used to coach basketball — then came the ulcers.

Never see him unhappy. Depressed? Not on your life. He's teaching health this year. That class is probably a riot.

And what about gymnastics? — county championships three years running — those guys wouldn't work for anyone else like that. He sure is a great guy. See what we mean? That's why this yearbook is dedicated to him.

He's the man. He's Coach. He's Ed Powelson.

Teachers are human.

Many spend tedious hours forcing knowledge into the heads of unwilling scholars.

They work long past bedtime on papers that students want returned quickly.

They offer their experiences of past years, which, though sometimes not on the subject, provide curious insights and educational benefits to students.

Most work continuously after school with some class, club, or organization.

Attending night school to help students and themselves requires even more hours to be spent away from family and friends.

We do not strive to look at all teachers idealistically. Many have weaknesses and faults as all humans must. Human is the key word. For all teachers at North Carroll are very, very human.

Faculty

It is a pleasure to offer my personal congratulations to the members of the Class of 1969. Within a short time you will receive your high school diploma and a phase of your education will be ended. For some of you this will be your last experience with formal learning, but education is a continuous process and it will be a part of your entire life. All of you will find that you must depend more and more on your own initiative to acquire the skills and knowledge so essential for success. At this point in your career the future may not appear to be promising or secure, but this is still the land of opportunity for those who have the courage and perseverance to take advantage of it. Few of you have yet discovered the great potential within you. How you use this potential will depend on your own efforts. The challenges you meet may be difficult, but you have the capacity to rise to the occasion and be an asset to your family, your friends, your community, and your country. Best wishes for success in whatever path of life you choose.

Frank Quattrone

Vice Principals

Mr. Young, our senior high vice principal, performs many duties necessary to keep our school running efficiently. He supervises parking facilities and daily announcements. We've all grown accustomed to this man around school.

Likewise Mr. Reck, in the junior high school, maintains various records. Also he supervises bus transportation and does a terrific job coaching our wrestling team.

J. Young – Vice Principal

D. Reck – Vice Principal

Guidance Counselors

When we take our first meek steps into North Carroll, we become aware of the many roads that lay open to us. But the question that soon arises is which one should we each follow? It is to answering this question that the guidance counselors devote their time and energy.

L. Simpson – Guidance Counselor

J. Hale – Guidance Counselor

L. Hoffman – Secretary

D. Smart – Secretary

Secretaries

The secretaries work many hours to bring order out of the confusion and chaos created by all of us at North Carroll. The harassment of people wishing class changes or treasurers requesting notification of knowledge as to their club's financial status cause many "Excedrin" headaches.

M. Lippy – Secretary

Language

Our language teachers are here to assist us in breaking down the barrier of misunderstanding in our lives. They seek to develop the student's ability to communicate with others through the media of the English language. The study of foreign languages helps us gain an understanding of cultures different from ours.

C. Roberts – English

C. Havens – Spanish

J. Panek – English

L. Zigler – English

M. Small – English

P. Workman – English

P. McVicker – English

Math

Ever since Newton was hit by that fateful apple, math and science have played major roles in our world. Today technology is so advanced that a basic knowledge of science and math is a prerequisite for an understanding of the world around us. Developments in science and math are expanding at such a fantastic rate that the teacher has a full time job trying to remain informed while keeping the students informed at the same time. But it is through the efforts of individuals like these teachers that the Newtons and the Einsteins of the future will get their start.

Social Studies

An understanding of the past provides us with a key to the future. The histories provide the student with the material essential to gain an understanding of government and people. A proper background in social studies equips the student with the materials to contribute meaningfully to society and to be an effective world citizen

Fine and Practical Arts

Special areas of study such as music, art, home economics, and business education help students at North Carroll to broaden their interests and develop talents which will help them grow in aesthetic appreciation, personal understanding, and useful skills. These specialized areas can be enjoyable as well as demanding.

The library, an area of support for all subject fields, is a place where a student may quietly browse for a novel or search through reference books for material for a P.O.D. research paper.

We thank the teachers in all these areas for helping students at North Carroll to become more capable and discerning people.

Specialties

Areas of action at North Carroll include the physical education department and the vocational fields. Students in these classes have an opportunity to develop physical dexterity, to learn special skills, and to work efficiently with others. The teachers in these fields have a great influence on students, helping them to understand the meaning of sportsmanship, fair play, accuracy, acceptable work habits, and perseverance.

Seniors . . . forever searching

We are graduating seniors now, and we are proud, proud of our responsibilities, proud of our achievements, proud of 1969, the year of years.

We haven't reached the end of the road, but rather a bend in the middle of it. Although our road has not been an easy one to travel, we have tried to make it as enjoyable as possible. There are ahead of us still higher goals to reach, harder problems to solve, other bends in our roads.

We have learned a great deal here at North Carroll through experiences we shall never forget. North Carroll has left its mark on us, and we hope we have left a mark not easily forgotten, a mark which represents honor and courage.

Charley's Aunt Jr. Class Play

On November 22, 1968, the junior class proudly presented the hilarious comedy Charley's Aunt. Featured in the successful production was Wayne Harvey. The play was directed by Miss Halman, and the sets were designed by Mr. Davis.

Senior Day — December 19, 1968

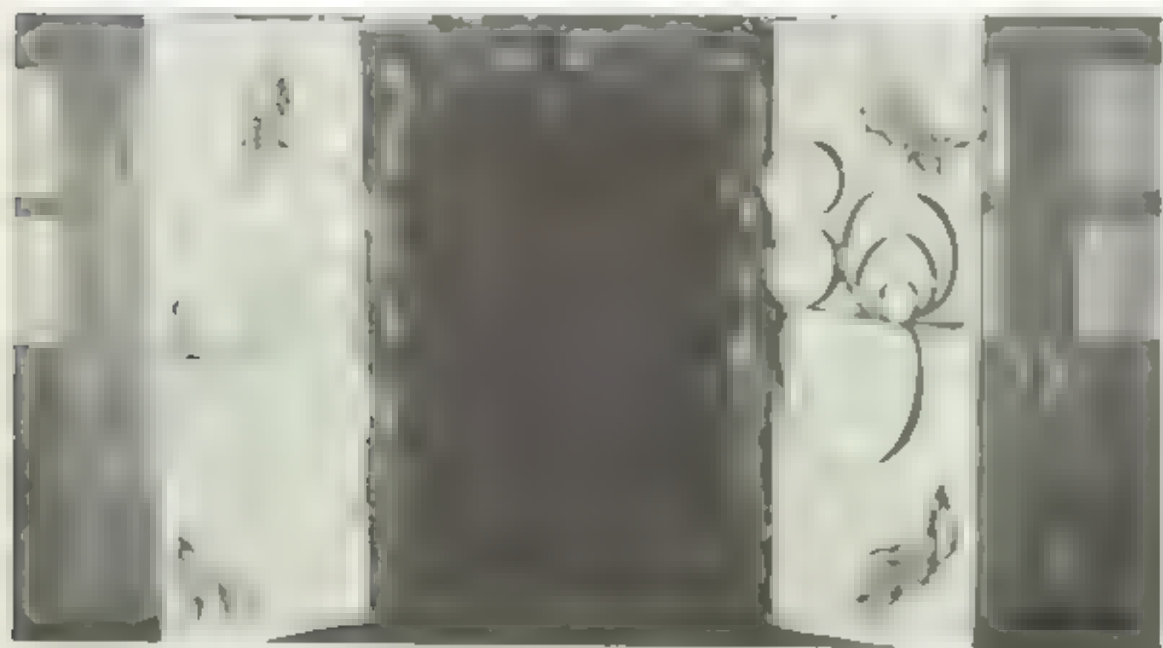

On December 19, 1968, the seniors suddenly and miraculously were transformed into sophisticated ladies and gentlemen. The event was Senior Day. Mr. David Warner started out the day's program with an interesting and thought-provoking talk based on "To Thine Own Self Be True." Next the seniors listened to an exciting young folk performer, James Green. His renditions of such favorites as "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" held the seniors spellbound. After Green's performance, the seniors and their guests retired to the cafeteria for an unusually good meal. An exciting conclusion to an exciting day was provided by The Raven, a psychedelic group made up of students from North Carroll.

Christmas Cotillion

On December 21, 1969, the Junior Class presented a dance in which they combined pleasant aspects of the new and the traditional. Indeed, this was not the traditional Christmas Ball that so many alumni looked forward to anxiously. Retitled the Christmas Cotillion and accompanied by the swinging Today's Tomorrow's and interesting advertising, the Cotillion became a successful money-making activity.

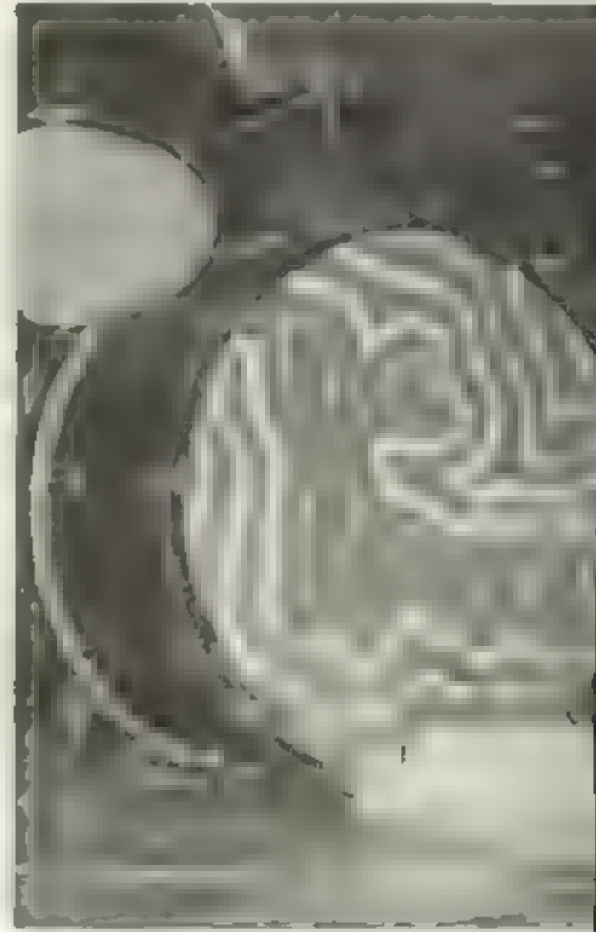

FTA Tea

Many unanswered questions about further education can be answered for North Carroll students at the annual FTA TEA. At the gathering, alumni answer questions about college studies and life.

'69 Yearbook Dance

On January 24, 1969, after a week of voting, N. C.. students witnessed the crowning of their Yearbook King and Queen. The two honored yearbook staff members were Tom Beam and Jeanne Sandruck. The pair were crowned by Linda Garrett, last year's editor-in-chief.

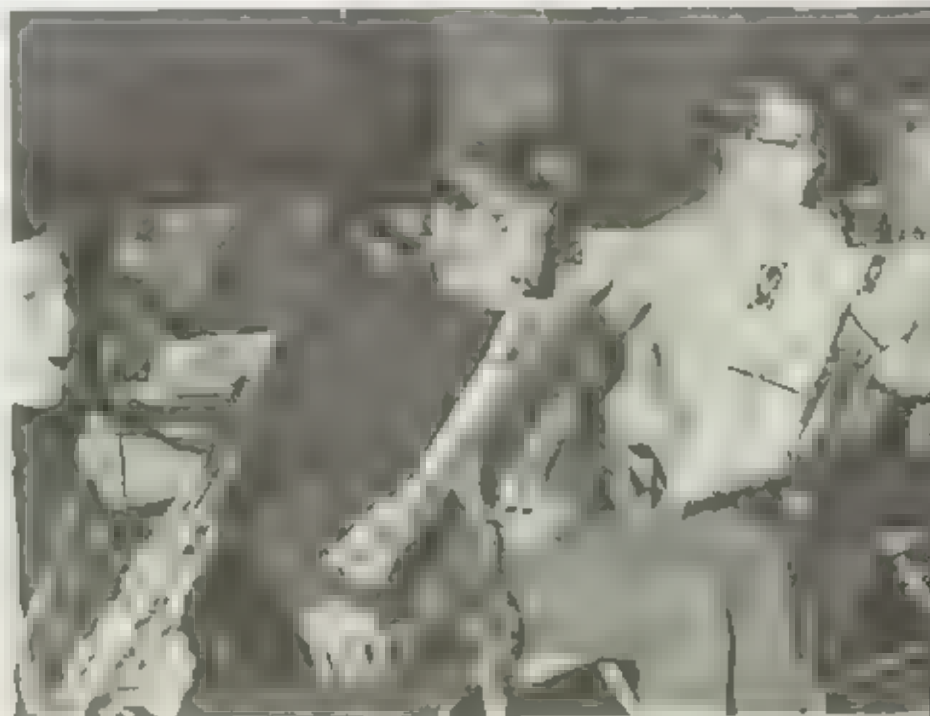

'69 Sports Dance

On February 21, 1969, Chuck Yeager and Diane Martin were crowned Sports King and Queen.

To belong . . .

In the past it was found that extracurricular activities added that certain something which makes school more enjoyable. After-school clubs and groups help establish feelings of unity and belonging to the school community. We are fortunate that our interests are shared by others and that we have been able to satisfy these interests constructively. Through N C 's organizations we've been able to make friends, further our knowledge, and contribute something of ourselves to North Carroll.

Organizations

Important to school spirit is North Carroll's newspaper. Thanks to Mrs. Shoff, the advisor, the creative accounts of sports, school activities, and news concerning teens from North Carroll have shown the talent for which our school is famous.

The Student Council carries an awesome responsibility, for it is their job to provide the student body with activities which encourage school spirit and unity. Council members sold hot dogs and coke at games not only to ease the financial strain, but to fill many famished supporters. They provided the unusual Christmas tree for the foyer and have sponsored dances. Most of all, never forget the heavy loads that were carried by the obedient slaves on Slave Day.

Jr. High Student Council

Under the advisorship of Mr. Thomas Tully the Jr. High Student Council is a thriving and energetic organization dedicated to preparing junior high students for leadership responsibility in their senior high years.

Human Relations Club

The newest addition to North Carroll's long list of organizations is the Human Relations Club. This junior-high club under the advisorship of Mr. Bailer is dedicated to furthering international understanding.

MR KREIDER

Senior Chorus

The Senior Chorus, under the direction of Mr. David Kreider, works hard to perfect their musical style and ability to perform. The highlight of the year and crowning achievement for the Chorus and the Class is the Senior musical, My Fair Lady.

SENIOR CHORUS PIANISTS Kay Bollinger and Sherry Bollinger

Junior Chorus

Membership in the Junior Chorus offers students an opportunity to develop their musical abilities while enjoying themselves. This year the juniors elected officers to run their chorus more efficiently.

JR. CHORUS OFFICERS — Peggy Masemore, Paul Hill, Peggy Muth, Karen McCullough, Paula Shippley, Karen Trone

JR. CHORUS

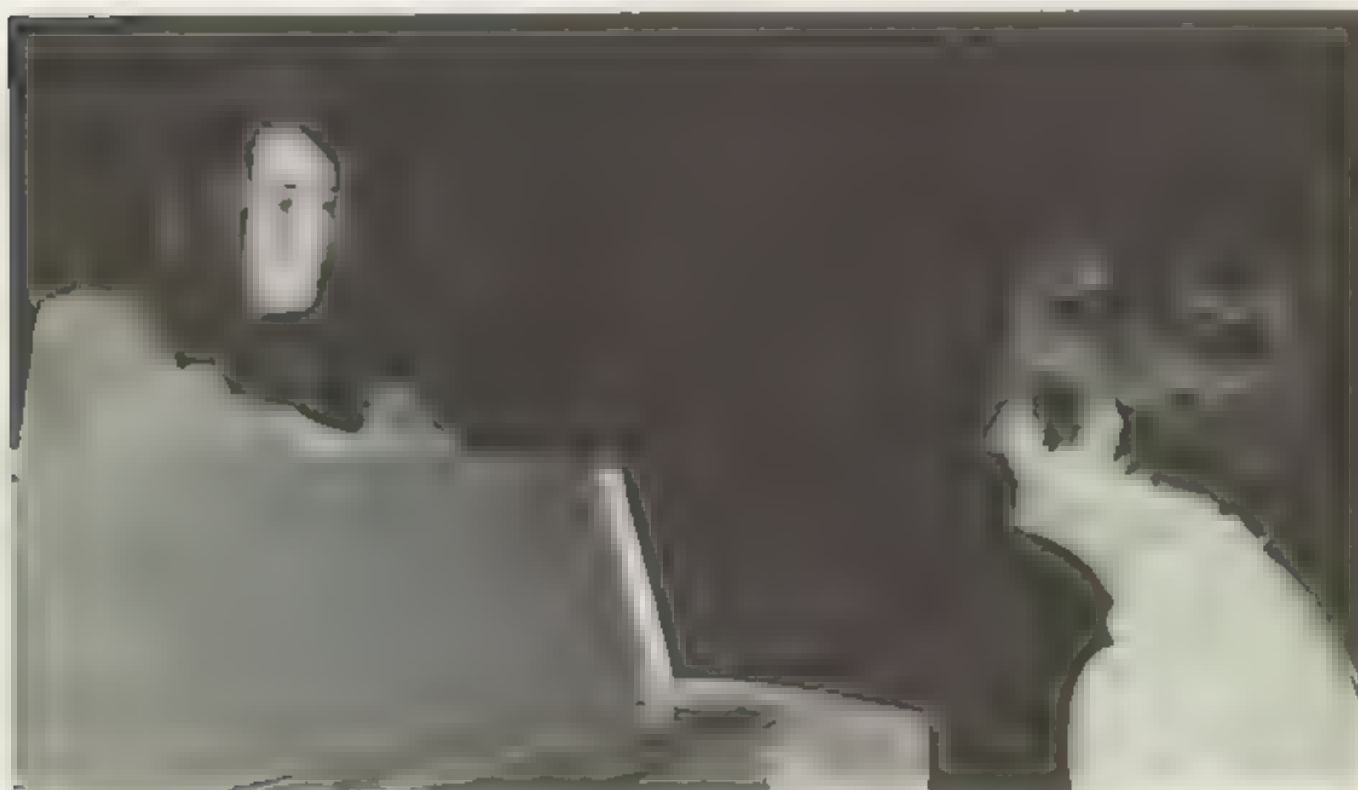

JR. CHORUS PIANISTS — Jerry Tilgner, Debbie Foard, Jeanne Mathias

Sophomore Chorus

The Sophomore Chorus this year has the distinction of being the only all-girl chorus in the school. These girls performed enthusiastically at the Christmas concert and also assisted the Seniors with their musical.

C. Cunningham, B. Mancha — Pianists

Freshman Chorus

The Freshman Chorus under the direction of Mr. David Kreider is taught basic music appreciation and also the names, types, and purposes of the major instruments

PIANISTS: Mary Alice Miller, Karen Ellis, and Daniel Riley

Junior High Band

The quality of the Junior High School Band promises to supply the senior high with fine talent as they progress. Presently they play for the enjoyment of their classes.

Senior High Band

Under Mr. Markert's able direction, the Senior High School Band has become an organization of enthusiasm and quality. The band gives much enjoyment to its audiences.

Dance Bands

The Senior High School Dance Band supplies music to "turn you on." Their music ranges from swing and ballad types to modern pop music. This band has won the appreciation of the students by its improvement. The Junior High Dance Band, a new organization, is filled with promising talent.

GAA

Participation in the G.A.A. provides North Carroll's girls with opportunity for activity in the sports field as well as for service to the school.

Drama Club

ADVISORS Miss Halman, Mrs. Stackhouse

For the third straight year, membership in North Carroll's Drama Club has grown. Under the joint advisorship of Miss Janet Halman and Mrs. Patricia Stackhouse, the Drama Club strives to become acquainted with all phases of the theater. Whether visiting local theater groups, producing one act plays, or just painting scenery, Drama Club members work diligently for the ultimate goal: induction into the National Thespian Society.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Bright, vivacious, spirited — these and other adjectives can be used to describe North Carroll's squad of varsity cheerleaders! Working hard to promote school spirit, the cheerleaders feel almost as deeply as the teams the ecstasy of victory or the agony of defeat.

Soccer

North Carroll's soccer team has been victorious in the county division for four consecutive years. In the last two seasons the Panthers have been undefeated and have represented the county in the district playoffs. Soccer has always been a popular sport at N.C., and, at the present time, the team has won 28 consecutive games. This year the first night game in Carroll County was held at Westminster High School, and the Panthers are looking forward to a good future for soccer and the team.

Girls' Gymnastics

North Carroll's girl gymnasts have, indeed, proven the truth of the old saying, "practice makes perfect." In an individual meet at Westminster all girls brought home ribbons. Mary Ayers was North Carroll's all-around gymnast in the county meet held at Westminster February 28.

Boys' Gymnastics

It can proudly be said that North Carroll's gymnasts are looking forward with much confidence to a fourth consecutive county championship. Tom Dell and Wilson Harris are competing for the honor of representing North Carroll as all-around gymnast.

Sports Candids

Spirited, impatient . .

The underclassmen of North Carroll typify the spirit which is so much a part of all students here. This restless spirit, tameless and impatient, generates the energy and eagerness which make our school great. So impatient to graduate, the underclassmen strive forward for that ultimate goal. Each year the respect and responsibility given these students increases as their impatience grows. Soon they will have their desire; they will be the leaders, at the top of the ladder. Hopefully the underclassmen will not only have the ability to keep our school great, but to make it even greater.

Please,
 When you feel generosity is good, don't be any other sentimental and take care of John - you really see and him

TAYLOR PUBLISHING COMPANY

The World's Best Yearbooks Are Taylor-made

Debbie,
 You a real sweet girl and good looking.
 Good luck in the future years to come and at M.C.N.

A.F.A.
 Patsy

Debbie,
 You a really good friend of mine who agrees on a certain thing about boys. Stay as sweet and cute as you are and always take care of Johnny. But don't worry I think he knows when he has it good. A.F.A.

Peggy

P.S. Have fun over the Debbie summer and watch those boys.

Debbie,
 Lots of luck in future years to a real sweet girl. Hope you had a fun summer with some special boys.

Deb,
 Way back in the end
 I write these words
 Be good,

Take (of John)
 Care,

and don't do anything I wouldn't.
